House Ditches Ike's Ag Program

Votes For Props At 90% Parity

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted 206-201 Thursday for a return to the Truman policy of supporting basic farm crops at 90 per cent of the parity price.

But the action may turn out to be only a legislative gesture, since it is uncertain the Senate will consider a farm bill this year and even if Congress decided to abandon the present system of flexible supports President Eisenhower would probably exercise his veto.

Democratic leaders fought hard to put the House on record against the administration's farm policy, which provides supports ranging from 83½ to 90 per cent of parity for wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts.

An air of tension—and some confusion—filled the House during final balloting on the issue.

Unofficial counts showed the bill had been beaten before the final result was announced. But then about seven members arose to shift their votes from the "No" column to either "Aye" or "Present." Several latecomers voted "Aye" to help provide the margin of victory.

Before the vote was announced, more than a dozen Democratic supporters of the bill got up to ask how they had been recorded. Such tactics are sometimes used to delay a final count until more votes are rounded up.

Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass) jumped up called for a recount in view of what he described as "the unusual confusion" surrounding the poll and "that so many members apparently don't know how they voted." The count was then confirmed.

It showed 185 Democrats and 21 Republicans in favor of a return to high, rigid price supports, and 172 Republicans and 29 Democrats against it.

The bill also contains a section to raise the support floor under milk and dairy products to 80 per cent of parity. The present level is 75 per cent. Parity is a legal standard for fixing farm prices in relation to the cost of things farmers have to buy.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture and a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the committee "might vote to report the House bill but I doubt that the Senate would pass it."

Dag Renews Effort To Get Release Of U.S. Fliers

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld said Thursday he intensified his efforts to free 17 Americans imprisoned in Red China as spies. "I hate guesswork," he told a news conference, and declined to speculate whether his efforts would succeed.

He declined also to explain how his moves had intensified. It is known, however, that he talked in London with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and visited Stockholm and Geneva, where Red China has representatives.

Robert Murphy, U. S. deputy undersecretary of state, commented in Washington earlier this week that activity on behalf of the prisoners had been stepped up in the U.N. and in Geneva.

W. Germany Pledges To Reunite Nation

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Republic won sovereignty Thursday and immediately pledged it will "never rest" until it gains freedom for the 18 million Germans in the Soviet Zone.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government stressed that the jubilation of its 50 million citizens at the ending of the 10-year Western occupation is clouded by what he called the slavery of East Germany.

American, British, and French renunciation of supreme authority over the Bonn Republic at noon was the crowning achievement of the 70-year-old Chancellor's career.

But opposition Socialist resentment was so bitter over Adenauer having tied up West Germany in the NATO alliance that he did not personally announce the grant of sovereignty in Parliament.

Warned that the Socialist deputies would walk out if he appeared, Adenauer forwarded a brief statement that Bundestag President Eugen Gerstenmaier read Thursday afternoon.

Only a dozen of the 131 Socialist deputies were in the chamber.

Socialist Erich Ollenhauer claims that rearmament will destroy chances of negotiating with Moscow for Germany's reunification.

Adenauer's government proclaimed to Germans in the Communist-ruled East:

"You can always rely on us, in common with the free world, never to rest until human rights have also been restored to you and you live peacefully reunited with us in one state."

Throughout West Germany, people saw slight immediate evidence of their new sovereignty. The Allies had interfered little with the Bonn Government in recent years.

Newspapers gave restrained coverage to Thursday's events.

The 450,000 foreign troops in West Germany did not march away. They are staying as NATO defense forces. American strength, remaining unchanged for the present, includes about 200,000 soldiers and 70,000 Air Force men.

The final meeting of the Allied High Commission was held at 10 a.m. Andre Francois-Poncet of France, Dr. James B. Conant of the United States, and Sir Frederick Hoyer-Millar of Britain, repealed the laws they had written, abolished the 5½-year-old commission, and proclaimed the occupation ended at noon. The three became their nations' first ambassadors to the Bonn Republic.

Shoot To Kill Orders Given In Phone Strike

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Shoot to kill orders were issued Thursday to halt violence in one of the many trouble spots in the Southern Bell Telephone Co. strike.

Mayor George Dempster of Knoxville, Tenn., gave the orders to a special police squad which was issued machine guns and tear gas.

The action followed two explosions early Thursday that wrecked two telephone cable distribution boxes. One of the explosions was in the city and the other on the outskirts.

Dempster said he would assume full responsibility for the shoot to kill order, declaring "They (the strikers) asked for it" and "this has gone as far as it can."

Two men were arrested for questioning in the explosions.

Dempster's statement brought immediate condemnation from W. A. Smallwood, CIO district director in Atlanta.

Smallwood said "wild accusations of a man who does his thinking with a machine gun should be called directly to the attention of the public."

Communications Workers of America leaders have repeatedly denied that union members had anything to do with reported damage to company property.

In Washington, a source close to negotiations said there seemed to be a good chance for settlement of the strike on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Thursday night.

Officials of the National Mediation Board also reflected optimism and said they expected to keep talks "going all night if necessary to achieve a settlement."

Craft Switches From 'Copter To Airplane While In Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department disclosed Thursday its first aircraft conversion in flight from helicopter to conventional airplane and back again.

WOULD BALANCE BUDGET — Former President Herbert Hoover, left, waves a greeting as he prepares to address the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hoover said the Federal budget might be "balanced overnight" if members of his commission on government reorganization "could have our own way." With him is Russell Harrington, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dulles Sees No End To U.S. Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told Congress Thursday he sees no early end to America's mutual security program of grants and loans to friendly nations.

He made the statement in testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Eisenhower administration's 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid appropriation request.

Pressed by committee member Barkley (D-Ky.), Dulles declared:

"I think we will have to have a program of this kind for a considerable length of time."

147 Polio Cases Reported By States For Last Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said Thursday new polio cases reported by the states for last week totaled 147 as compared with 106 in the previous week.

Last week's figures also showed a gain, of about one-fifth, above the 122 for the corresponding week of last year.

In other polio developments:

1. The service said the number of confirmed cases of polio contracted after inoculation with the new Salk vaccine has reached 41.

2. A group of experts on polio and immunology worked all day at the National Institutes of Health on reports of the post-inoculation cases, and on other angles including the manufacture and testing of the vaccine. A spokesman said the quality controls announced by the health service Thursday.

The service refused to comment on a report from one of its doctors in Montana that an investigation of 10 polio cases in Idaho "points strongly to vaccine as the cause."

The man who made the report, Dr. Carl Eklund, added that additional laboratory tests would be necessary before he could be positive.

4. Stephen Alex, a spokesman for the Washington office of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the foundation would turn over enough vaccine to the Defense Department to inoculate first and second grade dependents of military personnel "the world over."

The increase in the reported polio cases for last week, as compared with 1954, reversed a trend. The total so far this year has been 1,452 as compared with 1,976 in the like period of 1954.

CITIES SHARE IN STATE SALES TAX DISCUSSED BY STRATTON, DALEY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Stratton announced Thursday he has agreed with Mayor Richard Daley to provide the means for raising an additional $34,200,000 to meet Chicago's 1956 budget needs.

Stratton said a definite tax plan to produce the money has not yet been worked out but that a city sales tax or a share of state sales tax proceeds are two of the possibilities under consideration.

If the state sales tax idea emerges as the answer, downstate cities as well as Chicago would get a portion of the revenue.

Stratton, who conferred with Daley for the second time, said they agreed that Chicago is going to get the $34,200,000 sought by the mayor for police, fire, health, sanitation and street purposes.

Besides the sales tax possibility, Stratton and Daley said they were considering taxes on utilities, hotels, payrolls, and a boost in Chicago property taxes.

"We hope by next Monday to reach some definite conclusion on the legislation that is needed and the tax revenue involved," Stratton said.

The Executive Committees of the two congresses split over whether to give Diem full power to organize the elections. The National Congress wanted the Premier to form a provisional government which would prepare for the voting. The second group favored giving Diem himself full power to make these preparations.

Reds Fire 150 Rounds Into Little Quemoy Isle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists Thursday loosed one of the heaviest shelling of the year in the Quemoy across Formosa Strait close on the heels of their first aerial thrust in the Matsus area.

The Defense Ministry said that in 45 minutes Red artillery on Amoy fired 150 rounds into Little Quemoy Island, four miles away. There were no further details.

Little Quemoy, 22 square miles and stoutly defended, guards the western flank of Quemoy, largest and strongest of the offshore islands.

Nationalist planes only Wednesday attacked five small Red gunboats in Amoy harbor and claimed three damaged. They also fought off an attack by four MIG15 jet fighters 50 miles north of the Matsus.

The appearance of the MIGs for the first time near Matsus and little more than 150 miles north of Formosa itself was not unexpected. The Communists have finished a big air base at Lukiao, 200 miles north of the Matsus.

Nationalist officials predict that the Reds will follow the same tactics in the Matsus as they did in the Tachens farther north. The Nationalists quit the Tachens after the fall of nearby Yikiangshan Island.

The Reds first made occasional flights over the Tachens, then bombed them heavily and invaded Yikiangshan. There is speculation that the Matsus group island of Kaoteng will be the next "Yikiangshan." It is but four miles from the Red mainland Matsus, main island in the group, is 9½ miles from the mainland.

This time the Nationalists say they will fight for the Matsus and Quemoy, with or without U. S. help.

Unconfirmed Nationalist press reports said the Communists had set June 15 as the deadline for completing work on air bases at Fochow, 40 miles west of the Matsus, and elsewhere in that area. The report was considered likely, however, as work is known to be going ahead fast.

Thomas Disputes Navy's 60-Year Hamburger Supply

WASHINGTON (AP)—Armed with a stack of documents two feet high, Hoover Commission spokesman Thursday stood pat on their report the Navy has a 60-year supply of canned hamburgers.

A House investigating subcommittee then adjourned—for lunch—after arranging to hear a reply next Monday from Secretary of the Navy Thomas.

Thomas left little doubt he can hardly wait to reply. "I'll cancel any appointment I have to be here," he told Chairman Dawson (D-Ill.) of a House Government Operations subcommittee.

Dawson ordered the inquiry after noting the commission's findings had been "seriously disputed" in the Pentagon.

A task force of the Hoover Commission on government reorganization reported it found the Navy had 886,020 pounds of canned hamburger at supply depots, enough to last 719 months at the average rate of issue.

The report added that 608,938 pounds of the hamburger had been canned in 1950, 1951, and 1952, and was thus too old by normal standards.

Joseph P. Binns, chairman of the task force, said the commission merely wanted to be constructive, to show "the need and opportunity for improvement" in handling supplies.

Navy officials have indicated their argument will be that most of the canned hamburgers were stored as combat rations for any emergency, and the remainder would be consumed in far less than 60 years.

'Real Thing' Air Alert Caused By Communications Mixup

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A mixup in air defense communications caused a "real thing" air alert in most of the western United States at mid-morning Thursday.

The Air Force blamed it on failure to notify the Western Command of a training flight of B47 jet bombers.

Response to the alert varied from speed to confusion.

Air Force headquarters in Washington asked the Air Defense Command for a full explanation. It would be on this system that the air defense of the entire United States would depend in case of a genuine attack.

The alarm, at 10:40 a.m. MST, lasted officially from 3 to 10 minutes.

Unhurt At Less Than Two Miles

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—A savage atomic test explosion Thursday severely damaged Dooomsday drive, less than half a mile from the nuclear blast.

But while the 35-kiloton blast smashed buildings in Survival City, men and women in close-up trenches and soldiers in stout tanks came through unscathed.

Civil Defense photographers, wearing radiation safe suits entered the dust-shrouded area hours after the blast to take the first pictures of the wreckage.

Photos showed a two-story brick house on Dooomsday drive, 4,700 yards from ground zero, to be a mass of wreckage. This was the Darling family home, occupied by mannequins, whose fate is not yet known.

Presumably those in rooms on the first and second stories were destroyed. However, two mannequins in a wooden bomb shelter in the basement were not moved by the blast. Both—a father and son—were covered with dust.

A one-story frame house on the same street also was destroyed. But a reinforced masonry block house next to it withstood the mighty shock and searing fire. However, a radio transmitter in the block house was knocked off the air.

A gas tank containing heating fuel and a transformer and electric substation in the same area also survived the tremendous impact, the photographs disclosed.

A precast concrete house stood up under the terrific impact, but its windows were blown out. A 150-foot radio tower, strengthened by guy wires, was bent.

Air photos showed that house trailers were overturned two miles from ground zero.

Newsmen and television cameras will enter the area Friday for a detailed report on damage. Immediately after the blast a vast cloud of dust welled up from the desert floor, covering the test town like a brown shroud.

A newsman passing by in a helicopter about one hour after the explosion caught a glimpse, through the dust shroud, of shattered timbers poking up out of debris.

What lay outward from this closest edge of Survival City—how far beyond Dooomsday drive destruction reached—was obscured until civil defense and Atomic Energy Commission officials could fly or drive in, after dust and possible lingering radiation had subsided.

On the opposite side of the shot tower—which vanished in the twinkling of an eye as unearthly heat vaporized everything near the explosion—was an atomic battle-ground, like that which may await soldiers on some tomorrow.

Deployed there at the hour of explosion was an armored task force—55 medium tanks and supporting armored personnel carriers.

Shut safely behind the three-inch steel turrets of the tanks and the protection of the personnel carriers were more than 200 soldiers, with a half dozen newsmen.

THE BANDUNG AFFAIR

Beforehand, the West feared a great stroke for communism at the Bandung Afro-Asian conference. In fact, the United States and its Western friends scored a moral victory at the historic gathering.

All aside from who may have won or lost, the conference contributed much to the West's education on Asian matters. It showed:

1. That there is no such thing as the "Asian mind" as many have claimed. Asia made plain that, like the West, it has nearly as many voices as it has separate lands.

2. That Prime Minister Nehru of India, a leading world neutralist, is not the leader of Asia as he would wish to be. At Bandung he did not even speak for all the neutrals. At most, Burma and Indonesia may be said to have taken his cue.

3. That, at least in Asia, even a neutral can be pushed too far, and when so pushed can demonstrate it is not wholly blind to communism's dangers. Tiny, neutral Ceylon, represented by its premier, Sir John Kotelawala, delivered the conferences most telling assault on the "new colonialism" of Red China and Russia.

4. That the West, though not directly represented at the meeting, must have done excellent spadework among its attending supporters and sympathizers. In surprising number they spoke out vigorously and eloquently against the perils of encroaching communism.

They performed so ably that from the outset Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, the social lion at Bandung, was on the defensive.

5. That, however much he was the focus of attention, his Communist country stirs only limited sympathy among the nations of Asia and Africa. This was clear despite the fact that Chou conducted himself with rare decorum and mildness—evidently on coaching suggestions from Nehru.

Yet the Bandung affair cannot be put down, nevertheless, as a smashing and positive triumph for the West. Nor was it a crushing defeat for communism. Chou did keep himself reined in, though provoked by criticism, especially Kotelawala's. Undoubtedly he made some headway as a man of peace and goodwill.

For all his charm and restraint, one may wonder whether this would have been so had he not responded to unmistakable conference pressures by offering to negotiate the Formosa issue with America.

The real failure at Bandung was Nehru. From the beginning the non-Red, non-neutralist nations declined to be pressed into the mold he had cast for them. They spoke out. They displayed the real diversity of Asia, when Nehru longed to erect a facade of unity with himself recognized as the architect.

The West's friends declined to approve what was to be one of Nehru's master strokes, a resolution condemning Western colonialism. They fought for language that would delineate Red tyranny as a new and even more fearful colonialism. In the end, the delegates endorsed a watered down version that simply assailed colonialism without mentioning East or West.

Nehru was at his worst when he tried to answer charges of Red colonialism by declaring that Russia has not reduced the Iron Curtain lands to enslavement, that they are free and independent.

What emerged at Bandung from the fog of Western fear was a bright hope. The hope is that large parts of Asia may still be fertile ground for the seeds of real Western friendship. But the West must learn much more than it has ever known if it is to sow those seeds and successfully cultivate that ground.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Chinese, by design or necessity, have played it pretty cute since the Korean War. It's almost as if a public relations man had told them:

"Don't push your luck. Next time don't just jump into war. That's the hard way. Next time give yourself time to see what American public opinion is. That may let you know how far you can go, and what you can get, without war."

The Communists, by stopping United Nations forces in Korea, built up their prestige and self-confidence. But they lost heavily in men and supplies.

Their lack of readiness may be the real reason they haven't started shooting again. But, at the same time, Korea gave them a sharp insight into American thinking.

The Americans not only wanted to get out of the Korean War but were then and thereafter reluctant to get into war in Asia, where they could strip themselves bare in men and resources.

The Chinese Communists' first move after Korea was to help Ho Chi Minh and his Communist-led Vietnamese whip the French in Indochina. They could have sent armies in to help him.

But Secretary of State Dulles warned — or maybe it wasn't a warning, because his language was so vague — that the United States would get into the Indochina fighting if the Red Chinese marched in.

Instead of sending in troops, the Reds pumped supplies and expert advisers into Indochina. Ho Chi Minh smashed the French. The United States did not go in. American allies wouldn't go in and the United States would not go in alone.

This was more evidence for the Reds of American reluctance to get into a fight in Asia. It must have been encouragement for them to make push again—which they did—without starting to shoot right away.

Their next move: threats to capture Formosa and the Matsui and Quemoy islands. They made no attempt to do so. By waiting they were able to learn what Americans thought of getting into war over the islands.

American opinion stiffened on defending Formosa. A Chinese attack on that almost certainly, at least right now, would mean war with the United States. But American opinion was divided on defending Quemoy and Matsui.

In the end, if the Reds are patient, this country may let them have Matsui and Quemoy. Meanwhile, they build up their air power as a threat to Quemoy and Matsui. Maybe when they feel strong enough they'll start a war by attacking the islands.

But why should they, if by waiting a little longer they may get them free, as they may? Their air power buildup may be a psychological need on the American people: to pressure the administration into giving up Matsui and Quemoy since otherwise there is a chance of war.

Manners Make Friends

Whether or not your friends and acquaintances are happy at your good fortune depends mostly on your own attitude. The person who makes too much of an honor or an impressive new possession isn't so likely to have others pleased for him.

The person who is modest about his triumphs usually gets the nod.

Bluish Spots on the Skin Should Be Investigated

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Mrs. L. and Mrs. N. have recently asked for a discussion of thrombocytopenic purpura. One has a 6-year-old son and the other a 9-year-old daughter who have been diagnosed as having this condition.

Probably most readers of this column have never heard of purpura much less of thrombocytopenic purpura which is only one of several varieties. Purpura is a disease which shows itself by the formation of purple patches on the skin and mucous membranes resulting from bleeding in those locations. In most respects, therefore, a purpuric patch is similar to that of an ordinary bruise and in many who have purpura, bruising can come more easily than in a normal person.

PURPURA is complicated at best. It may develop from any one of a large number of infections such as pneumonia, meningitis or measles. It may be present in certain vitamin deficiency diseases such as scurvy or if not infrequently follows administration of drugs to those who are sensitive to them. In some cases it is related to malfunctioning of the spleen. In some the cause cannot be discovered at all. In a more general way, it may be related to changes in the capillary blood vessels which allow the blood to seep through more easily than usual, or to changes in the various parts of the blood itself.

Whenever it occurs a number of tests must be taken to find out what kind of purpura is present, what treatment offers the best chances of improvement, and what the outlook is for recovery.

If the condition is the result of an infection which is likely to improve, it may be that little needs to be done; if it is the result of taking some drug, discontinuing the drug may be enough to bring recovery. On the other hand, if it is the kind of purpura resulting from malfunctioning of the spleen, serious consideration will have to be given to remove that organ.

In fact, in the splenic kind of purpura removing all of the spleen may be the answer; it is a curious fact that the spleen which lies in the abdominal cavity, and the functions of which are not yet fully understood, can be removed not only without harmful effects, but also with great benefit in a few conditions of which purpura is sometimes one.

Most readers will never have occasion to become personally concerned about purpura. Nevertheless they should realize that the development of these bluish spots in the mucous membrane or on the skin are signs of something which should involve immediate and careful investigation.

Strawberry Angel Basket is Perfect for Mother's Day

FOR MOTHER'S DAY—Even a very young daughter can make this Strawberry Angel Basket cake as a surprise for Mom.

Even a very young daughter can make a beautiful dramatic strawberry surprise cake for Mother's Day. Here's how it's done.

Strawberry Angel Basket
One baker's angel food cake, 1 pint strawberries, 1 pint heavy cream, sugar.

Split cake 1-inch from top to within 1-inch of center. Repeat on second side. Wash and hull strawberries. (Save a few for garnish.) Cut them in half. Fill split in cake with berries. Whip cream, sweeten with sugar to taste. Use to frost top of cake. Garnish with whole berries.

Of course, if daughter is a little older, this strawberry crunch pie is the perfect answer for a surprise for mother on Mother's Day. It uses pretzels in the crust.

Strawberry Crunch Pie
(Makes one 9-inch pie)

One package gelatin dessert, strawberry flavor, 14 cups pretzel crumbs, 1 cup butter or margarine, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 table-spoons water, 8 ounces cream cheese, 1 cup (approximately) cream or milk, 1 pint strawberries.

Prepare gelatin dessert according to package directions and set in refrigerator to stiffen to the point where it just mounds on a spoon. Scrape pretzels lightly with a sharp knife to remove most of the salt crystals. Put through a food chopper with a coarse blade, or crush with rolling pin to size of coarsely ground nuts. Melt butter or margarine in saucepan and add sugar, crumbs, and water.

Press into lightly buttered 9-inch pie plate and bake at 400 degrees F. for about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool. Mash cream cheese and beat in just enough cream or milk to allow easy spreading. Use two-thirds of this mixture to line pie shell smoothly and completely.

Slice strawberries lengthwise and arrange out side up over cream cheese surface. When gelatin dessert has thickened sufficiently, spoon about 1½ cups of it carefully over strawberries, lifting the latter if necessary to permit gelatin dessert to reach bottom of pit. Chill until firm.

Garnish pie with remaining one-third of cream cheese, combined with enough additional cream or milk to give the texture of stiffly whipped cream.

Note: You will have about 1½ cups of gelatin dessert left over for plain or fruit molds for another day.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Pan-broiled hamburgers, whipped potatoes, fresh asparagus on toast with mock Hollandaise sauce, enriched bread, butter or margarine, strawberry crunch pie, coffee, tea, milk.

'Operation Alert' Designed To Test Civil Defense Plans

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Operation Alert"—the nationwide civil defense exercise set for June 15—will test five years' almost futile effort to make America conscious of the dangers from atomic bomb attack.

In Federal Civil Defense Administration they refer to their education program as "The Story Nobody Wants to Hear."

They began telling it shortly after the Korean war broke out. Since then, succeeding generations of government press agents have beaten their brains out to get their message across, then gave up and resigned.

They really got going in 1951 with 20 million copies of an "alert card." This was followed by 250,000 copies of a booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack." It went into more detail than the alert card. Private organizations and business concerns reprinted 20 million copies at their own expense.

Then there were seven half-hour TV shows. They cost only $1600 to make, but they got $100,000 worth of free time.

For Dramatic Wallop, three 10-truck convoys were put on the road with a three-dimensional picture exhibit big enough to fill a basketball floor. They covered 86,000 miles, hit 82 cities and were seen by 1,200,000 people. But this was less than one per cent of the population.

In the fall of 1952 a "Pledge for Home Defense" campaign laid an egg.

In 1953 the first atomic bomb test was thrown open to press and radio at the Nevada proving grounds. It was televised and described in awful tones, but it didn't scare anybody very much.

The Government Printing Office reported it had sold 70 million civil defense leaflets and pamphlets.

FEDA had spent 10 million dollars up to this time to tell its story. Half of it went to the states on a matching-fund basis, so the total was really 15 million dollars.

The Economy-Minded Eisenhower administration cut civil defense education funds down to $1,211,000 for 1954, with only $654,000 matching funds for the states. FEDA decided to sink most of its money in the film production of the first hydrogen bomb explosion. It just didn't register.

The first general civil defense test were held in 233 cities in 1954. People regarded them as a nuisance.

When the fact about the danger of radioactive "fall-out" from H-bombs was released in September, 1954, FEDA had a new scare to sell. There was a five-months' hassle getting the information in such shape that the average citizen would know what to do about it. But beginning last February, FEDA went to work on this job—its toughest assignment.

Civil defense education appropriations have been stepped up to a total of $3,500,000 for this year and $4,657,000 for the year beginning next July 1. This is out of a total civil defense budget of 62 million dollars—biggest since 1952 when the total was 75 million dollars. In all 300 million dollars have been spent on civil defense in five years.

There Are Now a number of leaflets, pamphlets and handbooks available. The leaflets, like "Facts About the H-Bomb" and "Radioactive Fall-out" are free, but limited in quantity. The handbooks run from "Evacuation of Civil Populations" at a nickel to "Home Shelters" for 35 cents. All are obtainable from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

This test will affect 50 out of 92 critical target areas. In addition, seven out of the 42 remaining U. S. cities will get a surprise alert. There will be a 26 minute warning, followed by two to three hours of test. The more confusion, the more it will show what's wrong with civil defense today.

About 80 per cent of the people of China are farmers.

Keep Troubles to Yourself And Keep Your Self-Respect

It is a rather rare woman who realizes that the only way to keep her self-respect intact and to win the respect of her woman friends is to keep her troubles to herself.

No woman ever talked about her husband's faults to other women without feeling a little smaller for having done so. And no woman ever tried to get sympathy by revealing her husband's shortcomings without getting pity instead of understanding.

No woman ever ran down her in-laws without running down herself at the same time or without losing a little of her self-respect in doing so. No woman ever complained about what a problem her children are without making others think: "It's her own fault. If she would only do such-and-such."

WE RESPECT THOSE WHO RESPECT THEMSELVES

No woman ever won anyone's respect by running around and asking her friends what she ought to do about this and what she should do about that. All a woman accomplishes by doing that is to make other women feel superior to her.

No woman ever built herself up by rehearsing "she said" and "I said" arguments and misunderstandings. She may be able to see only her own side of the story, but others always see both sides.

No woman ever gained anything by telling others of all she has done for someone and how badly she was treated in return. The general reaction to that is, "Hasn't she got any pride at all?"

The whole truth is, we respect those who respect themselves. And the woman who can't keep her troubles to herself isn't showing much self-respect.

THREE DECREES OF DIVORCE GRANTED

Three decrees of divorce were granted by Judge L. E. Wilhite after hearings at the regular Wednesday session of Morgan county court.

Decrees in favor of the plaintiffs were ordered in the following cases: Imogene Willis vs. James Willis, desertion; Dorothy Jackson vs. Harry Jackson, statutory.

In the suit of Barbara J. Rowe vs. Virgil Rowe the court heard evidence on a counter claim and answer thereto. The court found the issues in favor of the counter-plaintiff, and found the counter-defendant guilty of a statutory charge as alleged.

All children 10 years of age and below will be admitted FREE tonight between 7 and 9 p.m. Guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

Beta Sigma Phi Ritual Conferred On Two

The impressive candlelight Ritual Pledge of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority was conferred Monday evening to two new members of the Xi Lambda chapter of the sorority at the home of Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick, 360 West College avenue. The two new members are Mrs. Guy T. Daniel and Mrs. L. G. Isaacs. The retiring president, Mrs. George White, read the ritual.

The ritual table was covered with white satin, gold crested Ritual cloth, centered with a black bowl of yellow roses, the sorority flower with black tapers on either side in triple candleholders. Mrs. Ralph Floreth, vice president, and Mrs. Verne Anderson, secretary and treasurer, assisted Mrs. White with the pledge degree.

Active members formed a semi-circle, holding yellow candles with gold guard, to complete the Ritual. Following this degree, Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Isaac were presented with the Beta Sigma Phi pledge pin with the Torch guard and also the yellow rose, symbol and flower of Beta Sigma Phi.

Reads Ceremony

Mrs. White also read the installation ceremony to Mrs. Donald Qui, incoming president for 1955-56. Mrs. Lola Johnson was installed as secretary and treasurer. Due to the absence of Mrs. Irene Lukeman the installation for vice president will be conferred at a later date.

In behalf of Xi Lambda chapter Mrs. White was presented with the traditional retiring president's gift, the gavel guard of her office in appreciation for her services this past year.

Mrs. Qui announced her committees for the ensuing year: program, Miss Ina Stewart, Mrs. Lele Hutchison; social, Mrs. Ralph Floreth, Mrs. Irene Lukeman and Mrs. L. G. Isaac; courtesy, Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Guy T. Daniel.

contact and publicity, Mrs. Verne Anderson and Mrs. Lowell Dodson; ways and means, Mrs. Joseph Ingolia, Mrs. Gladys Crawford and Mrs. George White; major activities, Mrs. Frank McCarthy, Mrs. Guy Symmonds and Mrs. Lola Johnson, and scrapbook, Mrs. Frank McCarthy. Representatives from Xi Lambda chapter to attend the Beta Sigma Phi City Council meetings for the ensuing year, will be Mrs. White, retiring president, Mrs. Qui, incoming president and Mrs. Floreth as alternate.

Presents Travelogue

Mrs. Majel Segrist took the group on a European tour by showing colored slides and relating the interesting phases and events of her recent tour of the European countries, in company with other local citizens in England, France, Italy, Germany and Switzerland. The speaker related the mode of dress, activities, industry, farming, and sports. Most interesting were the street scenes of the Vatican City, at which time Mrs. Segrist was among the group to receive the Apostolic Blessing from the Pope.

Mrs. Segrist received a gift of appreciation from the hostess, for the presentation of this delightful and instructive program.

Mrs. Miles Fitzpatrick, Sr., was a guest for the evening and was the recipient of the floral arrangements of yellow roses.

Delicious and dainty refreshments were served from the lace covered tables appointed with crystal and silver and centered with yellow roses.

Prizes were drawn and awarded to Mrs. Isaac, Mrs. Lola Johnson and Mrs. Lowell Dodson.

Further plans were made for the group to attend the annual May breakfast at the Dunlap Hotel May 15th with Mrs. Ingolia and Mrs. Gladys Crawford in charge of arrangements.

Lioness Club May Breakfast Served To 28

The twelfth annual May Breakfast for the Lioness club was held Sunday morning, May first, at the Dunlap hotel with twenty-eight members present.

Mary Walters led the pledge to the flag and Grace Purry gave the invocation. Guests were presented to the retiring officers, Cecilia Sorrell, president; Mary Logue, vice president; Mabel Ingels, treasurer, and to Alpha Qui, secretary.

Members having perfect attendance for the year were announced, Mary Walters, Kay Hogan, Mabel Ingels, Alpha Qui, Cecilia Sorrell, Marie Barton, Mrs. William Messersmith and Mrs. Harold Henderson who also received gifts. Trained Mechanics To Operate Safety Lane

Trained mechanics furnished by the Jacksonville Auto Dealers Association will be in direct charge of the Safety Lane in Jacksonville next week, Chief Ike Flynn of the police department said Thursday.

The Safety Lane, which is expected to provide free testing service for several thousand passenger cars, will be sponsored by the Jacksonville police department, National Safety Council, Look Magazine, and the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee.

Howard Wooten, service manager of the Frank Corrington garage, has made available a wheel alignment testing machine and another machine for testing the correct setting of automobile headlights.

Officers Charles Runkel and Wilbur Stafford, co-chairmen of the Safety Lane activities, said past experience has shown that car owners appreciate the headlight test almost as much as the brake test. This determines whether the beam is properly focused for the maximum protection of the driver and his machine.

Safety Lane will be located on West Morgan street beside the new high school gymnasium. It will be in full operation from May 9 to May 14, from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

The entrance to Safety Lane will be located at West Morgan and South Church streets. The street will be blocked off at West Morgan and South Fayette. Cars entering Safety Lane will proceed down the north side of the street, make a U-Turn at the end of the block and enter the Lane on the south side of the street. The exit also will be located at South Church and West Morgan.

"By this arrangement we hope to have as little traffic confusion as possible," Chief Flynn explained.

Safety Lane is free. The public is urged to take advantage of its service. There are no penalties if passenger cars fail to make the grade—the information ought to be of most importance to the owners.

PEACEFUL MOVES—Two recent developments in the Palestine area, mapped above, are aimed at promoting peace. The Syrian government has told the U.N. it would consider splitting up with Israel the demilitarized zones (upper right) along the Syrian-Israeli border. These are three bits of land totaling about 155 square miles that have been the scenes of clashes over water and territorial rights. Israel claims the whole area and may not agree to partition. In the other move, Israel and Jordan set up a "peace" zone (lower right) designed to prevent armed clashes in the Jerusalem area. An American was killed there recently. The arrangement covers a 26-square-mile area in which guards will have orders not to fire without order of a commissioned officer.

Chapter History Given At Meeting

ROODHOUSE — Mrs. F. Earl Walker and Mrs. Dale Brant were hostesses to Chapter BU of the P. E. O. Sisterhood at a party held in the Walker home Tuesday evening at 7:30 with 23 members present.

The business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Cloyd Sawyer. Mrs. J. M. Orr gave the history of Chapter BU from March 1964 to March 1965. Mrs. Sawyer, who attended the 53rd annual Illinois State Convention held Apr. 28, 29, 30, in the First Methodist church in Moline, gave a very interesting and informative report of the convention. At the state meeting decorations, talks, music, and meditations were in keeping with the theme for the year, "The River." She discussed the word "river" stressing the following points: R-Reflection; I-Inspiration; V-Versatility; E-Enrichment; and R-Radiance.

There are approximately 8,900 P. E. O. members now in Illinois. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the conclusion of the evening.

The next meeting will be a pot-luck supper served in the fellowship room of the First Baptist church honoring the families of the local members.

More than 2000 types of lutes are made by master craftsmen in Great Britain.

News of the World in Pictures

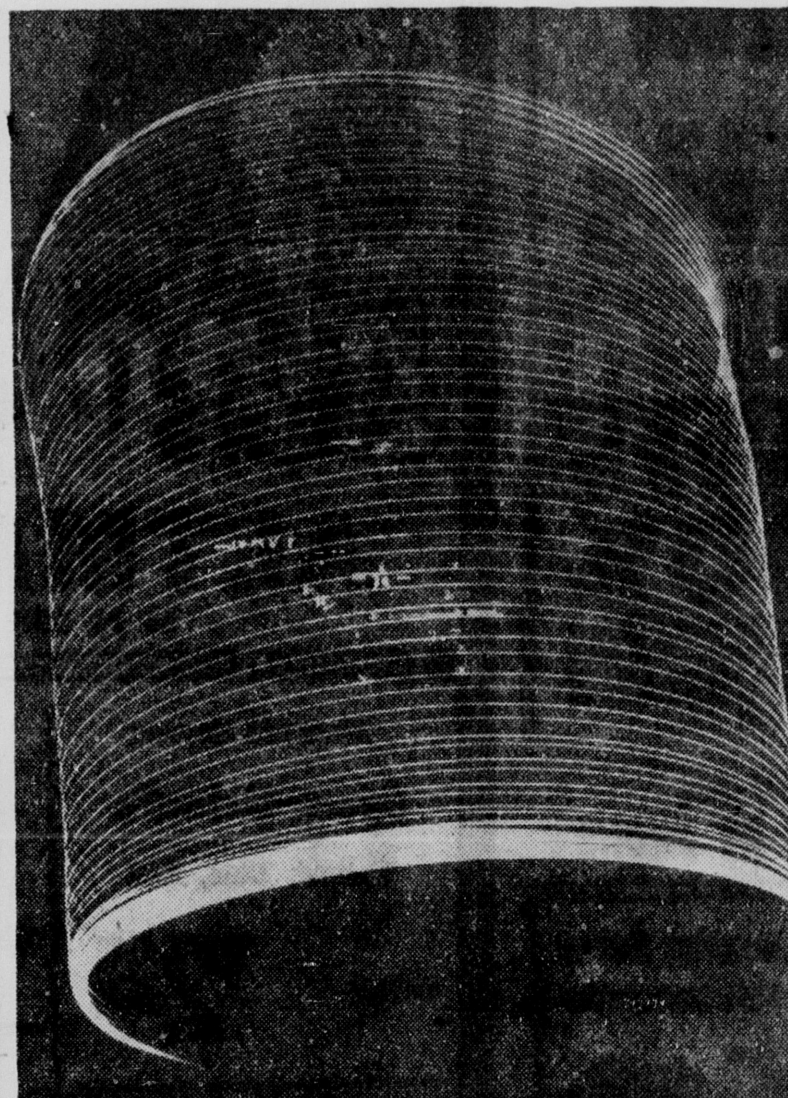

ON THE JOB—New British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and Lady Eden, followed by Sir Anthony's son (left), arrive at Church house, Westminster, for caucus.

CONTROLLED—On trial with British Army in Germany is latest tank, the Conqueror. Gun is stabilized by electronic control. It passed test.

PICTURE PRETTY—Diane Williams, University of Miami student, is flashbulb favorite of Miami photographers. She was crowned "Miss Miami Press Photographer of 1955."

A GAY BLADE—A helicopter with its rotor tips lit up traces an unusual pattern of arcs in this time exposure. The photographer used a flash bulb to "freeze" the 'copter midway in its climb. The 'copter, at Bloomfield, N. J., requires special lights to identify it from any other aircraft.

ILLUSION OR CONFUSION?—Evelyn Wanzer of Chicago poses for a favorite angle of amateur photographers at the 900-year-old Leaning Tower of Pisa. Step aside, Evelyn, and see if 272-foot tower will fall. Anyway, it looks like a good try on her part.

"UNSPOILED" PARADISE—The little nation of Ecuador, for the first time in its 400-year-old history, is making a bid for its share of America's four-billion-dollar annual tourist business. Photo shows Quito, capital of Ecuador, in the Andes, which has been officially "opened" by government as tourist spot. Center is Plaza Presidencial.

FROM 'GIRL' TO BOY

STUDENTS OF SHAKESPEARE will remember the quotation from Julius Caesar about "the most unkindest cut of all" when Caesar fell. If you were to ask the Charles Escudero family of Dayton, O., they might say the "most unkindest cut" was that first haircut that little John got just before his second birthday. Barber Walter Ross was the one who changed little John from a "girl" to a boy with a comb and shears. John didn't whimper at all. In fact, he rather enjoyed the results. Now the other kids in the neighborhood will know he's a boy. His family finally got used to it and admit he's a good-looking boy. But, sometimes Mrs. Escudero thinks about one of childhood's moments—that first haircut.

John climbs into the chair and barber starts to work. First a little snip here and there and then John begins to change. Mrs. Escudero wipes back a tear, but John is beginning to like it. He looks in mirror, approves, and climbs down.

AFL CIO Merger —

Labor's Political Power Greater But Opposed To Own Labor Party

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized labor—15 million strong—is going deeper into politics, but the high command is strongly opposed to a political labor party such as that in Great Britain.

Labor's top chiefs say that after the coming merger of the AFL and CIO, unions will remain an independent political force. But they concede that Democratic candidates are far more likely to benefit from labor's political action than Republicans.

Some labor leaders imply that if unions cannot achieve their goals through the two-party system, they may have to turn in another direction.

AFL President George Meany, who will head the merged AFL-CIO organization, gave these views in an interview:

"As long as I have anything to say about it, the AFL will not tie itself to any political party. I don't believe in a labor class or a labor party along class lines such as the British Labor party. I don't believe in it just as I don't think there should be a political party in this country along denominational lines.

"There will be increased political action by labor in 1956. But political action by organized labor doesn't mean we will tie ourselves to any party. There is talk that labor is going to join forces with the Democratic party. Well, I'm not going to tie the AFL to any party, anytime, anywhere.

"That doesn't mean, of course, that we won't support more Democrats than Republicans because that probably will be just the way it works out. The facts are that more Democrats have favorable records from our point of view than Republicans."

The merged unions will make their political drive through a single organization which will be formed with the merger of the AFL's Labor League for Political Education and the CIO's Political Action Committee.

The AFL and CIO set up these political action groups after passage in 1947 of the Taft-Hartley law, which forbids unions from taking dues money out of union treasuries and spending it in support of any candidate for federal office.

These groups accept voluntary contributions from workers, and since it is not dues money, there are no strings on spending it in direct support of any candidate.

But won't the effect of such political action actually mean drawing labor into closer working arrangements with the Democratic party, which now gets most of labor's support?

Meany replied: "I will say this. If the time should ever come when we are forced to do such a thing—tie ourselves to any party—then it will be our own party."

"We are going to try to achieve our aims on a nonpartisan basis. But if the nonpartisan effort fails, then we'll go somewhere else. We'll go where we must go. And we'll go as far down that road as it is necessary to go."

It is known that Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, and John L. Lewis, chief of the United MINE workers, both share Meany's misgivings toward a national labor party in the United States.

Thomas Kennedy, vice president of the UMW, whose views often reflect the thinking of Lewis, had this to say:

"There is no need for a labor party in the United States. The American labor movement is essentially an economic movement and if it fails to realize this and to continue to act in behalf of its own membership to win better wages and working conditions through economic action, the UMW feels that it will suffer the fate of much of the European labor movement."

Lewis reportedly thinks Meany and Reuther are going too far into politics even with their present plans for more vigorous political action.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

The Western Allies, by incorporating an independent Germany into their ranks, now face more confidently a long-term showdown with Russia over the future of Europe.

Thursday was a natural time for optimistic statements, and there was no dearth of them. Perhaps the most optimistic was that of Secretary Dulles, who said Russian policy had failed.

If that should turn out to be true it will not be verified until after some tumultuous death throes.

In some ways it appears more likely that a new battle for Germany is just beginning.

The one great concrete fact underlying the whole situation is that Germany is not yet rearmament.

The position of strength from which the Allies have always hoped they might be able to reach negotiated settlements with Russia requires divisions, not merely the promise of divisions. It is hardly conceivable that Russia will play dead while they are being created.

Despite her heavy economic claims, Russia is paying a high political price for a neutralized Austria which can be used as bait and a stimulation of the German desire for reunification.

A four-power conference on the future of Germany is now being worked out.

If the Russians come to that conference with a demand for neutralization, offering in return the withdrawal of troops from East Germany and free elections, the impact on German politics will be terrific. Not only that, but serious differences are likely to develop among the Allies themselves.

Heretofore they have resisted Russian offers of a general European nonaggression pact, and to make disarmament agreements, recognizing the proposals as efforts to prevent German rearmament.

You only have to look back a few months, to the travail through which France passed in agreeing to a German military revival, to understand the temptation offered in that quarter by a neutralized Germany.

There will also be uncertainty, carefully nurtured by Moscow, as to whether Russia may actually be doing what everyone has hoped she would do—relax her pressures rather than continue the risk of war with the NATO powers.

All this points to upheaval, rather than any immediate hope of relaxed East-West tensions.

The time for really putting the pressure on the Russians may come when France and Germany have had a period in which to prove the workability of their new entente, and when those German divisions are in the field.

Town-Country, Evening Units, To Meet Jointly

Mrs. Harold McCarty was hostess at the April meeting of the Town and Country unit of Home Bureau at her home on Caldwell street. Mrs. Faye Mentler was co-hostess. There was one guest, Mrs. Robert Hewitt.

Miss Betty Jane Downs presided and opened the meeting with the pledge to the flag. Members answered roll with something each would like to learn from Home Bureau. The major lesson, Care of Outdoor Plants, was given by Mrs. Glenn Kendall. Miss Downs led the discussion on Program Planning. Mrs. Glenn Kendall, recreation chairman, provided members with materials to construct an Easter Card or a getwell card. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. H. Cooper for her poem and Mrs. Bernice Copeland for her artistic cover.

Mrs. H. McCarty was named chairman for the May membership drive to be assisted by Mrs. Edward Plickta and Mrs. H. Cooper.

Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour. The next meeting will be a joint session with the Jacksonville Evening unit at the First Presbyterian church the second Thursday in May. Mrs. Ethel Carter, Mrs. Mae Hunt, Mrs. E. Garlich and Mrs. H. Hills, will be hostesses. This will be the first lesson by the new home adviser, Miss Graves. All members are urged to be present.

Tigers Cop 7th, Beat Winchester 9-4 With Rampley Hurling

WINCHESTER — (Special) — Coach "Potsy" Clark's Illinois School for the Deaf Tigers won their seventh game in eight tries by downing host Winchester 9-4 behind the five-hit pitching of Jack Rampley.

The Tigers collected nine hits off Wildcat hurler King including a home run by Bob Harrell and a triple by Rampley.

The Wildcats jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings before Rampley settled down to shut them out on only one hit the rest of the way.

King held ISD scoreless the first three innings but the Tigers rallied for six in the fourth to take the lead. The six runs came on four hits. Phelps walked and Mehring was safe on an error to set up the scoring. Zachariasen followed with a single and a double by Kleot and a single by Kutilek accounted for three runs. The other three followed on an error and Harrell's homer.

The Clarkmen scored another run in the sixth on Zachariasen's double and scored two more in the ninth on Kleot's single and a triple by Rampley.

Rampley struck out 11 and walked seven. King sent eight Tigers down via the three strikes and walked only one.

At Champaignville Today the Tigers travel to Champaignville this afternoon for a PMBC conference battle with the Comets.

FAN BREEZES

BY BILL MERRIS

If we were a betting man we would bet the stands at the Morgan County Fairgrounds race track will be jammed tonight when the curtain rises for the 1955 stock car racing season. This is one sport to hit our town that has kept the fans interested. In fact, the sport has grown through the past few years. This can probably be attributed to the fine cars, drivers and the way the racing officials handle things.

With the addition of the Pittsfield track to the local circuit this year promises bigger and better racing for all. The local track is in fine shape after several weeks of hard work getting it groomed for tonight's opener. The races will be handled in much the same manner as last year with a trophy presented the winner of each race.

We understand the before mentioned possibility of local golf players organizing an instructional program for kids has materialized and will be started this year. Look for an official announcement later.

While we're on the subject of instruction and programs we might call your attention to the article on this page concerning the horseback riding program at MacMurray College. This will be an opportunity for all riding enthusiasts to take part in their favorite sport. However, you don't have to be an expert to attend. We understand they have people on hand to make sure no one ends up facing the wrong end.

In his first three pitching assignments, Omaha's Willard Schmidt won two and lost one. The one he lost was by the score of 1-0. He has averaged 10 strike outs per game. This is the same Willard Schmidt who is brought up every spring by the Cardinals but never kept. This year we didn't recall seeing his name in the box score of a single exhibition contest. He was out before they started north. (Maybe we're just sore because we picked him as a likely surprise pitcher and one to help the Cardinals finish second this year.)

To change the subject, did you hear that they're going to air condition Busch Stadium (home of the St. Louis Cardinals). Going to put a fan in every seat.

A camera that was designed for photographing guided missiles in flight will be used by The Associated Press in covering the Kentucky Derby. The Hulcher sequence camera shoots pictures at the rate of 20 a second.

Scott Hurls, Lewis Gets 3 Hits As Jacks Capture 11-2 Victory

BEARDSTOWN — (Special) — Coach Bob Kraushaar's Jacksonville Crimsons captured their 7th victory of the season yesterday afternoon as they defeated host Beardstown 11-2 behind the five hit hurling of Larry Scott.

The lefthanded member of the Crimsons two man pitching staff pitched great ball as he allowed single runs in the first and seventh innings. An error and walk helped the Tigers to score in the first inning, while a triple by Vancil and a Crimson error accounted for Beardstown's final run in the seventh.

The Jacks scored in every inning except the first and sixth—their big frame being the fourth when they tallied four times. Bill Lewis first of three hits, a triple, accounted for the first run in the second inning. The Jacks came back to score two in the third on Scott's double, a single by Fernandes and Jim Woodward's one bagger.

Doubles by Scott, Fernandes and Lewis plus three Beardstown errors were good for four runs for the Crimsons in the fourth. Several Tiger bobbles and singles by Marjoege and Lewis accounted for two runs in the fifth.

The Jacks scored their final run in the seventh when Steve Hill connected for a home run with one on. It was Hill's first four bagger of the season.

Scott struck out 12 men.

Kaline Again Sparks Tigers' 3-2 Victory

DETROIT (P)—Al Kaline hit a two-out triple in the last of the ninth inning, scoring Fred Hatfield with the run that gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox Thursday and moved the Tigers into a tie for first place in the American League.

Kaline's triple broke up a hurling duel between Boston's Tom Brewer and rookie Duke Maas of the Tigers, a pair of young right-handers.

The victory closed out a successful home stand for the Tigers in which they won 8 of 10 games. The sport gave them a 13-7 record for the season.

After five scoreless innings the Tigers took a 2-0 lead in the sixth on Jim Delsing's two-run homer following an inning-opening walk to Ray Boone.

But the Red Sox were held to one hit through the first six innings, picked up four safeties and scored two runs in the seventh to tie the score.

Illini Thinclads Meet Chicago Team Today

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 5—Illinois resumes dual meet competition against the Chicago Track club in a twilight contest at 6:30 p.m. Friday in Memorial Stadium.

The meet is an addition to the Illini schedule as Coach Leo Johnson preps his squad for the Big Ten Relays at Evanston May 14.

Chief attraction of the visitors will be Phil Coleman, a topnotch miler and two-miler. Coleman ran the mile in 4:11.4 at the Ohio Relays and clocked off a 9:11.4 for the two-mile in an indoor meet here in February.

Illini sophomore Karl Johnson will attempt to match strides with Coleman in the two-mile. Indoors he ran 9:13.7 to finish a few strides behind the Illinois graduate student.

Frank Loomis of CTC is expected to give Illinois' hurdling duel of Willard Thomson and Abe Woodson some tough competition in both high and low stick events.

Feature race might well be the 880 where Henry Cryer, who had a 1:50.5 anchor lap of the sprint medley at Drake last week, will tangle with John Barnes, an NCAA champion for Occidental college before entering service.

Dale Foster, Illinois' hope for a Big Ten outdoor crown in the pole vault, seeks to regain form in Friday's meet. He failed to clear 13-10 at the Drake Relays after being a consistent 14-foot performer throughout the indoor season.

Don Laz, former Illini great, will compete in Friday's meet unattached.

MacMurray College Stables Open To Public For Night Recreational Riding

Recreational horseback riding is now available to all persons in the Jacksonville area. The MacMurray Stables are open to the public at the present time and around 20 head of horses are available for use.

Stable manager "Son" Wackarla is in charge of the program that went into effect the 20th of April and will continue to be a part of the local recreational program as long as people continue to want to ride.

The riding will be done between the hours of 7:00 and 9:00 in the evening every night except Sunday. There will also be riding Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Since the horses won't be allowed on the streets the riding will be confined to the MacMurray riding ring.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rolled ahead quietly Thursday for the second straight day.

The session lacked sparkle with the exception of a few issues. The market headed up at the opening and maintained that trend throughout.

Gains went to between $1 and $3 and losses got to around $2.

The steels, motors, coppers, railroads and radio-televisions were heavily favored. The aircrafts were mostly lower on determined but not vigorous profit taking.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents. It was ahead 20 cents the day before. Thursday it closed at $163.80, only $3.00 under the record peak established last week.

All three components of the average were higher—industrials up 50 cents, rails up $1.20 and utilities up 10 cents.

Volume amounted to 2,270,000 shares, 70,000 more than Wednesday.

On the American Stock Exchange, the general trend was higher on volume of 680,000 shares as compared with 650,000 shares traded Wednesday.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The bond market ended slightly higher Thursday in selective trading.

U. S. government bonds firmed as the federal reserve system eased the money market by purchasing Treasury bills in the open market. Such purchases add to the reserves in many commercial banks.

The federal reserve open market operations were interpreted in Wall Street as an attempt to facilitate the government's fund raising activities. However, the new 15-month 2 percent notes, which the Treasury announced were greatly oversubscribed, changed hands on a "when issued" basis at 99 31-32 bid, below par value on the "bid" side.

Corporate bonds fluctuated narrowly most of the session, but their tone improved in the final hour. Some convertible obligations were in demand and most investment quality issues ended firmly. Changes were generally small fractions, however, and volume dipped to $3,370,000 par value from $3,390,000 Wednesday.

WHEAT ADVANCES FOR THIRD DAY

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat advanced again Thursday on the Board of Trade but the pace of the advance was considerably slowed down from the previous two sessions.

Rye followed wheat higher. Feed grains ended mixed with only small price changes. After fluctuating on either side of the previous close, soybeans sold off in the last half hour to end with mostly small losses.

Wheat closed 1/4-1/2 higher, corn 3/4 lower to 1/4 higher, oats 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, rye 1/4-1/2 higher, soybeans 1/2-3/4 lower and lard 2 cents lower to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Soybeans displayed underlying weakness by falling back in the closing minutes, some grainmen felt. It was the second day in which beans have acted weaker than the rest of the market. Processors were said to have lowered their bids for cash beans.

Cash soybean oil held steady but meal was a shade easier. Wales purchased 100,000 bushels of beans. Beginning Monday, the board will start trading in New Contracts of soybeans for September, November and January delivery. This has been made necessary by changes in bean grading standards.

INCENTIVE WITH SCENT POSSIBLE

DIXON, ILL. (AP)—A skunk is being used as an incentive to boost the membership of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce.

The skunk was presented to the first member named on the membership list. It's his to have and hold until he signs up a new member. Then he passes it on to the second man on the list, and so on.

But here's the hitch: Although the skunk has been deodorized, she is an expectant mother and her offspring will have all the natural attributes of skunks.

Ike's Proposed

A-Powered Ship

Runs Into Snags

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials testified Thursday an atomic-powered merchant ship as proposed by President Eisenhower can be built in two years at a cost of 30 to 35 million dollars.

The whole idea ran into sharp opposition, however, from the ranking Republican on the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, Rep. W. Sterling Cole of New York, who called it "a phantom ship" and "a waste of money."

The cost estimates and some other details of the proposed ship were given to the subcommittee by the AEC's acting chairman, Dr. Willard F. Libby, and Maritime Administrator Clarence Mase.

State Legislature

Attorney General's Power

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. (AP)—Advancement of an administration proposal to broaden the attorney general's power of investigation and prosecution took the limelight in Illinois legislative action Thursday.

The Illinois Senate passed the key bill 38 to 6 and sent it to the House.

Under the proposal, the attorney general at the request of the governor could step into any county and conduct inquiries and criminal prosecutions, with or without the state's attorney's consent.

Administration spokesmen have contended the bills are needed to allow the state to maintain law enforcement if local controls break down in an area.

Truck, Trailer Site

In the House, there was a call for a 10-day period of strict state police enforcement of laws regulating the length and width of trucks and trailers. This came in an adopted resolution asking for a report on the results of state police measurements at weighing stations.

Another measure authorized the highway division to convey certain Coles County property which is no longer needed for highway purposes.

Toll Road Committee

A special House committee to investigate the Illinois Toll Highway Commission organized Thursday and decided to invite the turnpike commissioners to appear before it next Monday.

At the suggestion of Rep. Arthur Sprague (R-LaGrange), the House group also voted to ask for production of commission records showing receipts, expenditures and present obligations and commitments.

The nine-member committee was set up by the House Tuesday at the request of Sprague and 15 other lawmakers included Rep. Jack Baird and two other lawmakers.

The committee, due to report its recommendations June 10, is headed by Rep. David Hunter (R-Rockford).

It is under instructions to look into Toll Road Commission activities, procedures, financial and contractual commitments, and to consider the wisdom of revising or repealing the 1953 Toll Road Law.

Gambling Devices

A bill outlawing the manufacture of slot machines and some other types of gambling devices was approved Thursday by an Illinois House committee.

The measure specifically excludes from its prohibition the manufacture of amusement type pinball machines. It was endorsed 31 to 2 by the Industry and Labor Relations Committee.

Rep. John King (R-Wheaton), sponsor of the bill, said 85 per cent of the world supply of slot machines is made in Illinois and 65 per cent of those made in the state are used within its boundary.

Polio Vaccine Used In Morgan Last Year Will Be Continued

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois public health authorities are resuming last year's field tests on an antipolio vaccine produced by deadly ultra-violet rays that promise added safety.

Dr. Ruth Church, director of the contagious disease division of the State Health Department, said today she plans to inoculate 200 Morgan County children with the Shaughnessy-Levingson-Milzer vaccine this year. Last year 260 were vaccinated with it.

Galesburg Mayor Travels Route Of River Pipe Line

Jacksonville's bold gesture to whip the water shortage problem by building a 23 mile pipe line to the Illinois river continues to attract interest of municipal officials throughout Illinois and other states.

Mayor Leo Morrison of Galesburg spent Wednesday along the route of the big transmission line, visiting the site of the pumping plant north of Naples, and the filtration plant in this city. He was accompanied by Alderman Daley and Supt. Laughery of the Galesburg water department.

The Galesburg men spent considerable time with Casler & Stapleton, consulting engineers on the local project, who explained the nature of the pipe line. Mayor Morrison and the other visitors also met Mayor Hoagland and other local officials.

While Galesburg is not facing an immediate water shortage, its officials are reported to be interested in a long range program which will insure an adequate supply in the future. Galesburg is located 33 miles from the Mississippi river.

She and Dr. Roland R. Cross, department director, have compared it favorably with the Salk vaccine. Both vaccines are made by killing polio viruses, with chemicals in the Salk product and with radiation in the S-L-M product.

"Our feeling is that we have a little higher safety factor," Dr. Church told a reporter in discussing the radiation process.

"If they get a little too much chemical, the antigenic powers begin to drop," she said. She referred to the vaccine's power to develop antibodies in the person vaccinated.

"Our contention is that irradiation does not make the antigenic properties decrease as rapidly," she added.

The vaccine was developed in studies begun nearly 12 years ago. The researchers are Dr. Howard J. Shaughnessy, director of the State Health Department's division of laboratories and head of the public health department at the University of Illinois Medical School; Dr. Sidney O. Levison, executive director of the Michael Reese Research Foundation in Chicago, and Dr. Albert Milzer, director of microbiology at Michael Reese Medical Center.

In the Morgan county tests, none of the children developed polio.

"The county was chosen, Dr. Church said, because it had a low polio rate. This indicated a high degree of natural immunity.

"We wanted to see if our vaccine would stimulate what we call primary immunization. We thought we would find many children there who had no antibodies to begin with," she explained.

Blood tests were taken both before and two weeks after vaccination and the results compared.

"Definitely promising," Dr. Church called the findings, but said the series of tests has been small.

Gen. Woodward said he was satisfied with the way various civil defense teams performed.

Three Suspects Held In Jail Here Charged With Shoplifting

A tip from an alert Jacksonville business man and quick work by members of the Jacksonville police department resulted in the arrest of three alleged shoplifters and the recovery of a quantity of merchandise which had been taken from three stores in the Jacksonville business district Thursday afternoon.

A local merchant called the police and informed them that two women whom he believed answered the description of shoplifters that visited this city recently, had just left his store. He gave officers a description of the women.

Chief of Police Ike Flynn and Lieutenant Howard Stout jumped into a police car and rushed to the business district. After driving around for several minutes they went south of Main street and within a half block of the Public Square noticed a woman walking along the street in a peculiar manner. She appeared to be suffering from arthritis by the gait she was traveling. The officers kept an eye on the woman and saw her get into an automobile with another woman and a man. The car started to travel south and the officers overtook the car near Anna street and asked the man driving for his driver's license. He told the officers he had no identification papers and the officers ordered him to go to the police station. The policemen, however, took no chances and made the women get into the police car while Lieutenant Stout climbed into the car driven by the man.

At the police station the officers found four suits of clothes, 14 shirts and a quantity of costume jewelry in the car. One of the women showed two pocket knives and some of the costume jewelry in the seat of the police car and it was found by the officers.

After considerable questioning the women finally admitted to Chief Flynn and other officers that they had taken some of the merchandise but the man flatly denied any part in the case.

Chief Flynn said that the four suits were taken from the Little Mac's Store on South Main street. He said that the women, both wearing flaring skirts rolled up the suits on the hangers, placed them under their flowing skirts and between their legs and hobbled out of the store. This peculiar walking is what attracted the officers' attention and resulted in the arrests.

The 14 shirts were taken from the Grant Store on the East Side of the Public Square and the costume jewelry from Kline's Store, on the South Side of the square. Officers were of the opinion that the shirts were placed in shopping bags as four bags were found in the car driven by the trio.

The suspects gave their names as Herman Lee Owens of Decatur and Judy Ann Moore and Sylvia Watkins, both of St. Louis. Police said all were colored.

The two women were taken to the Morgan County jail and looked up in the women's section while Owens was placed in a cell at the city jail.

Chief Flynn said that warrants would be issued against the three suspects Friday morning.

Move Earth For Big Caissons At Kroger Building

Work on the new Kroger Super Market on West College avenue is progressing rapidly with the Hugh Gibson Contractors, Inc., taking advantage of favorable weather to remove tons of dirt and putting in caissons which will support the huge building.

Large diggers are leveling off the lot and hundreds of loads of dirt have been taken out during the past few days.

Wednesday afternoon the Wabash Drilling company of St. Louis moved its equipment to the site and started the work of digging 55 holes for the caissons.

The rig is known as a California bucket digger and is capable of digging a hole 24 inches in diameter and 24 feet deep every 30 minutes. The digger has a drop bottom and turns like an auger. When the bucket is filled with dirt it is pulled out of the hole and the dirt placed into trucks which dump the dirt into holes on the site of the new building.

When the 55 caissons have been put in place a concrete reinforced beam three feet thick will be placed over the caissons making a firm base for the building. It was said Thursday that this is the first time that caissons have been placed under a building in Jacksonville. Several local buildings, however, were placed on piling, but this is the first time that concrete has been used.

It will require about four days for the St. Louis company to complete its work installing the caissons.

Room At Passavant Is Dr. Thompson Memorial

The trustees of Passavant Memorial Hospital announced Thursday the establishment of a memorial room for Dr. Perry Commodore Thompson by his widow, Mrs. Mina B. Thompson, now residing at Aurora, Ill.

Dr. Thompson will be remembered by many of his Jacksonville friends as one of Jacksonville's leading physicians. He was born Feb. 2, 1850 at Bethel, Ill. and attended Whipple Academy and Illinois College. For nine years he taught school in Morgan county in order to obtain funds necessary to satisfy the ambition entertained since childhood; that of attending medical school.

Graduated from Rush Medical College, now affiliated with the University of Chicago, with the class of 1883, he took special courses in the diseases of women and children and pulmonary diseases during his medical training.

After his graduation he practiced in Meredosia for three years and in 1886 moved to Jacksonville. In 1889 he moved his office to a new building on West State street located on the present site of Dunlap Court.

Dr. Thompson's skill in the practice of obstetrics was such that he was one time called to Brazil, South America to attend an obstetrical case.

In addition to the usual duties of a busy general practice, he was visiting physician at Oaklawn for several terms and for a time was chief physician at the Illinois School for the Deaf. He was also examiner for the United States Board of Physicians.

Not one to devote his entire energies to his own practice, Dr. Thompson was active in many medical organizations. He was a member of the American Medical Association, of the Illinois State and Morgan County Medical Societies and one of the founders and first president of the Jacksonville Medical Club—an organization for the self-improvement and enlightenment of physicians practicing in this community. In addition, Dr. Thompson was an amateur poet of no mean ability.

In 1899 he married Miss Mina Borden who for 16 years was a teacher of speech at Illinois College.

In 1925 failing eyesight was involved in Dr. Thompson's decision to retire from active practice at the age of 76 following 42 years of service in his chosen field. The sunset years of his life were passed in Evanston, Ill. and Southern California.

Mrs. Thompson acted as eyes as well as the constant companion until Dr. Thompson's death of Aug. 13, 1931 and the memorial announced Thursday was made possible by her generosity.

Mrs. Don Quay Is New President Of Lioness Club

The Lioness club closed the 15th year of its organization with the Thursday, April 28th, meeting held at the Dunlap hotel.

The president, Mrs. Floyd E. Sorrell, opened the meeting with the pladage to the flag led by Florence Murray. Grace Furry gave the invocation. New members introduced were Mrs. Ruby and Mrs. Olen Gottschall. Lioness Helen Riemann was in charge of the flower decorations which consisted of painted daisies, glads and phillendendrons in wicker baskets. These lovely arrangements were won by Mrs. Sorrell, Lucille Walters and Mrs. Paul Hogan. The speaker's table bouquet was taken to Mrs. H. V. Knowles, convalescing from a long illness.

Traditional birthday plans were awarded to Mrs. Fred Bailey, Mrs. Irene Noudett, Mrs. Russell Rawlings and Mrs. G. L. Long.

Mrs. John Warga, program chairman, presented Greg Flynn, pianist and Bob Isle, trumpet player, both of whom were state music contestants, who presented a delightful musical program. John Warga then showed a film taken on his European tour last summer. This was a request program as at a previous meeting Mr. Warga was unable to show the entire film. His pictures are unique in that they portray vividly the people in each country visited and their actual way of life.

Lioness Warga, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers, accepted unanimously: president, Mrs. Don Quay; vice president, Mrs. Merle Ingels; secretary, Mrs. William Cochran and directors for three years, Mrs. William Messersmith and Mrs. Floyd Hess.

Members were invited to attend a tea at the Warga home on May 22 celebrating the 16th anniversary of the founding of the club. The meeting closed with a salute to the flag led by Mrs. Elmer Middendorf.

Viet Nam's Chief Hunts In France While Civil War Rages In Saigon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bao Dai, the chief of state of South Viet Nam, went pigeon shooting Thursday in France while his overseas subjects tangled in civil warfare that may deliver the remnants of Indochina to communism.

The story of the absentee overlord and his nation, struggling in the first glow of its independence, is being written at Bao Dai's estate on the Riviera and in the streets of Saigon. But its beginnings go back over a century and a half to the first French invasion.

The French penetration of Indochina came after French Roman Catholic missionaries had arrived and achieved considerable prestige on their own. This was in the late 18th century.

Bao Dai was emperor of Annam, in central Viet Nam, when the Japanese invaders came in, and they let him hang on until August 1945. Then they opened the gates to the Vietnamese, who dethroned Bao Dai and consolidated Cochinchina, Annam and Tongking into Viet Nam, running north and south the length of Indochina.

Then the Communist-inspired Vietnamese movement, fell out with the French over plans for granting independence. Under Ho Chi Minh, the Vietnamese warred eight years against the French and anti-Communist Indochinese. The Geneva conference last July halted the war but put the northern part of Viet Nam under Communist control. (The other Indochinese states, Cambodia and Laos, have like South Viet Nam obtained independence from the French.) For the last years of the war and up to the present, the United States has been the mainstay of the Viet Nam government, backing with millions of dollars in aid, as a bulwark against the spread of communism in Southeast Asia. But religious and political sects have not been satisfied with the native government, and have been trying to undermine Ngo Dinh Diem, South Viet Nam's Roman Catholic premier.

The end of the war left the Vietnamese political and religious sects in a peculiar position. During the Japanese occupation these groups—the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai religious sects and Binh Xuyen society—were centered in the southern part of the country. They represented about all that was left of organized nationalism and formed pockets of resistance. When the Indochina war broke out, the sects generally considered the Vietnamese movement a threat to Indochinese nationalism. With French persuasion in the form of subsidies, the sects' private armies, estimated at 30,000 to 40,000 helped fight Communist-led rebels.

With the end of the fighting, the French ended the subsidies. This spelled trouble for Ngo Dinh Diem, who became premier last June.

Prodded by their unpaid soldiers, the sects decided early last month on open defiance of Diem's government.

Cao Dai was formed in the 19th century, blending the tenets of Buddhism, Christianity, and Islam. One of its saints is the French author Victor Hugo. Hoa Hao is composed of dissident Buddhists who dispute the doctrines of traditional Buddhism in Southern Asia. Binh Xuyen has a political and economic basis rather than religious. It grew strong in the World War II period and postwar years, particularly in Saigon, where it controls organized vice and gambling.

The ex-emperor Bao Dai became chief of state of Viet Nam when France recognized its independence in 1949. But he has spent most of his time on the Riviera, and hasn't been to Indochina since last April.

Pigeon shooting is his favorite pastime.

Remarkable New Dairy Product!

WHIPS AT ROOM TEMPERATURE! Even with a hand beater, Topic whips quickly and easily—actually faster than whipping cream. And whipping chilled Topic is speedier yet!

Balanced

Everything it takes to be "TOPS"

STANDARD GASOLINES

...balanced for top power, economy, and all 'round performance
...and raised to the Highest Octane levels in our history

We are mighty proud of our new gasolines. They have been stepped up to the highest octane ratings in our history... designed to give knock-free performance in the most modern of high compression engines, and older cars as well. But important as octane is, good gasolines need something more. They must be balanced too. STANDARD WHITE CROWN and RED CROWN Gasolines are balanced to give you top performance, with controlled volatility—the right gasoline for the right season—with no vapor lock even in the hottest summer weather. Try a tankful of one of these clean-burning, high octane, balanced gasolines today, and prove to yourself that there is a difference in gasolines.

Are all gasolines pretty much the same?

NO, THEY'RE NOT. Standard's research brings you the best in gasolines. And we guard their quality from refinery to your car through exclusive terminals, lake tankers, river barges, pipelines, tank cars and trucks. No gasolines arrive at or go out of our terminals but Standard Gasolines. That's why they are distinctly different!

You expect more from STANDARD and get it!

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

XXII

In theory, Jesse's rise of raising a delaying tactic 1000 miles south of where he meant to strike in earnest was sound bandit business. The only trouble was that he was matching minds with a mighty sharp firm of competitors. The Pinkertons had been in the business a bit longer than he had—plenty long enough to smell a bogus set of tracks once they had run them to the JD-Bar and had a little exploratory talk with Old Man Coleman. Before the day was out, the Dallas telegraph wires were humming. In direct consequence, a projected robbery of the Mopac was shortly subject to some re-scheduling.

On May 27 the gang, having separated to ride up from Texas in two groups—Jesse and Cole in the first and Frank James, with Bob and Jim Younger in the second, rendezvoused at the old Roaring River hideout.

Unknown to them, the trails of both groups had been picked up within the past 48 hours, that of Jesse and Cole at Siloam Springs, Ark., that of Frank and his companions at the little Cherokee town of Spavinaw, in Oklahoma Territory.

But a telegraph wire will hum both ways. At Siloam Springs, once more showing that long-minded caution of his, Jesse had sent a message to his wife, then living near Clinton, Mo., 80 miles south of Kansas City, with "trusted friends."

Zerelda was going under her maiden name; her hosts, non-native Missouri kin of her father, John Mimms, didn't even know their great-niece was married, let alone to whom. It was, at the same time, a deception of limited possibilities. Had not Jesse's fateful wire disrupted it, it would soon enough have fallen apart under its own growing weight. Zerelda was four months pregnant

Jesse's communique was typically to the point: "Will be at honeymoon house." It was signed: "Love, Tom," after his favorite alias, Thomas Howard.

Only the day previous, young Hibb Woodson had ridden all the way down from Clay County with the alarming report that plainclothes Pinkertons, had visited the office of the sheriff in Liberty.

All effort, Hibb had warned Zerelda, must be made to contact "the boys" in time.

At the moment of Hibb's asking, Zerelda had not the least idea where her bandit husband might be. Now she had that dangerous knowledge. But Hibb was already gone back into the Clay County hinterlands, and there was no time to go after him.

It is a matter of folklore record that for seven days Zerelda Mimms was missing from the Clinton home of her unsuspecting kinfolk. She returned there the morning of June 1. Her story was short and simple. She had "impulsively" gone to care for an ailing cousin "down near Seligman."

It was the 28th of May. They had been at the cabin 24 hours. Each had had but little better than four or five hours sleep.

Bob Younger slid his mount to a stiffling stop outside the darkened cabin. He piled off him, crouching and squinting through the night-gloom. "That you Jess?"

"It's me. What's up?"

"We got company," drawled young Bob, voice easing softly. "Jim's bringing her in." Then gently: "It's your wife, Jess."

Unable to reach a principal member of the clan in time, fearful of trusting any less than a blood kinsman, Zerelda James had hired a racing thoroughbred from the Clinton Livery, ridden the 159 miles to Roaring River in two nights and three days. She had ridden alone, guided along the unmapped back roads only by the year-old memory of her honeymoon trip by wagon the previous spring.

A mixed posse of Pinkerton detectives and Arkansas and Missouri peace officers closed in on the Barry County cabin in the gray daylight of the 29th. Jesse James was gone.

THERE simply was not a better-liked, more popular couple in the farming community of Big Creek, some miles outside Nashville, Tenn., than the Tom Howards. They were lively young folks and that new baby of theirs that had arrived last October was just about the brightest-eyed little boy you would ever want to see. His father called him Tim. His mother called him Eddie. From that, the Big Creek residents assumed the lovable tad's full name was Thomas Edward Howard. After his dark-bearded, beautifully-mannered, culturally spoken daddy, no doubt.

Well, after his daddy, in any event. The kindly Tennessee farmfolk got that close, it must be admitted.

The baby's real name was Jesse Edward James.

The happy year was ended. Sitting across from Jesse at the close of that last supper in the white-painted Tennessee farmhouse which had brought her first and only 12 months of home life with her restless mate, Zerelda knew that. Only the hour before, he had told her he was going, and where.

She had not remonstrated with him then. She did not mean to now.

She had known when she married him that he was a professional outlaw, with a price on his head which could only be paid in one of three ways: by his sudden death in gunfire; by his surrendering to the Clay County authorities and accepting a lifetime imprisonment; by his continuing to rob and kill and to lead the resultant existence of eternal flight.

You'll feel like a pilot without leaving the ground

Just wait till you switch the pitch of Buick's new Dynaflow*!

How would you like to take the wheel of a high-powered Buick and feel an experience you never felt before in any earth-bound vehicle?

How would you like to do—just by pressing down the gas pedal—what a pilot does when he's ready for take-off?

And how would you like to drive with the happy thought that you're getting plenty of miles per gallon in normal cruising—and the electrifying action of the world's first airplane-principled transmission when you need it for split-second getaway response or accelerating power?

It's all for you when you say the word and slip into the driver's seat of a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Not only do you take command of record-high Buick V8 power—and the most envied ride in the industry—and the brawn and heft and luxury of a truly solid automobile.

You also call the turn on twenty propeller-like blades inside a wondrous new Dynaflow that's patterned after the principle of the airplane's variable pitch propeller.

You hold these blades in their high-economy angle when you press the pedal in the normal way—and you get a lot more miles from a tankful of gas.

You switch the pitch to take-off position when you press the pedal way down—and you get spectacular action instantly.

Don't take our word alone that this is thrilling beyond all previous experience.

Talk to anyone who's tried it. Or, better yet, come try it yourself. That way you can learn firsthand why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Punch-line to the year's hottest power story—

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

There's only one way you'll really discover the hottest power story of the year. Get aboard a new Chevrolet that packs a bundle of velvety TNT under the hood—the new "Turbo-Fire V8"!

For this is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stop-watches wherever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR* stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry (that means less piston travel . . . longer engine life)! And it delivers the highest power per pound of any V8 in the low-priced field. It's so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five . . . needs less radiator coolant, too. It's the most modern V8 under any body's hood!

But the thing you'll like most is the way it puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" and if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe.

Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet is showing its heels to every one else on the road!

No other low-priced car has any—no high-priced car has all—of these great Chevrolet features!

Body by Fisher—You see it on some of the highest-priced cars. Nine engine-drive choices in any model—The greatest choice going. 12-volt electrical system—Twice the voltage of other low-priced cars. Anti-Dive braking—A Chevrolet exclusive for heads-up stops. Outrigger rear springs—Wide-spaced for steady cornering. Ball-Race steering—Turns on ball bearings. High-Level ventilation—Cleaner, fresher air. Double-Arch cowl construction—Extra strength and safety.
